

JOIN US IN ORLANDO, FLORIDA FOR THE NATIONAL SPACE SOCIETY'S 16TH ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL SPACE DEVELOPMENT CONFERENCE MAY 22 - 26, 1997

A Chapter Of The National Space Society

The theme of ISDC 1997 is Becoming a Spacefaring Planet, emphasizing the increasing importance of both international cooperation and competition to the exploration, commercial development and settlement of space. Join us as we explore this theme through:

- ★ Three Speaker Tracks
- ★ Lunch & Dinner Meal Events
- ★ Space Educator's Track (May 23 - May 24)
- ★ SEDS Conference (May 24)
- ★ Exhibits/Collectibles/Space Art Room
- ★ All Day Tour of Kennedy Space Center (May 22)
- ★ Half-Day Tours of Kennedy Space Center (May 23 - 24)
- ★ SpaceCamp & Astronauts Hall Of Fame Event (May 24)

Conference Program Tracks

Each ISDC provides a diverse conference program combining the latest information on space science, technology, and policy. ISDC 1997 will focus on the increasingly international nature of space exploration and development in several tracks including: Economic Opportunities In Space; Enabling Technologies For The Space Frontier; Space Policy & Legal Issues; Advanced Concepts; and Exploring The Space Frontier.

Educational Exhibits And Activities

To fulfill its educational objectives, ISDC 1997 will provide a workshop for teachers in which experienced educators will demonstrate how space science and technology can be incorporated into school curricula. The exhibit hall will feature space displays and demonstrations from government, industry and non-profit organizations designed to appeal to young people and laymen, as well as space aficionados.

Pro-Space Activism

ISDC provides an annual opportunity for pro-space activists to exchange ideas, learn new techniques, and plan pro-space strategies. Short workshops on fund-raising, strategic planning, communications tools and other topics of interest to space activists will be provided, along with strategy planning sessions and committee meetings throughout the conference. NSS will recognize outstanding activists at the awards banquet.

Special Tours & Attractions

ISDC 1997 will provide a tour of Kennedy Space Center including the Visitors Center museums, IMAX theaters, a bus tour of Space Shuttle facilities, and a visit to the newly opened Apollo-Saturn V Exhibit. ISDC registrants may also participate in a special open-house at the Astronaut Hall of Fame & SpaceCamp facilities just outside KSC.
